was one of the first men in the State to abandon his civil pursuits and enlist in the First Minnesota Regiment. His service during the war was severe, culminating at Gettysburg, where his regiment made the famous charge that cheeked Pickett's onelaught. Of three hundred men who made that charge only forty came out whole, and young Lochren, who started on the rush as a first lieutenant of Company E, came out in command of the regiment. every officer above his grade having been killed or wounded. When the war was over Wm. Lochren returned to Minnesota and resumed the practice of law. He was very popular, and was twice the Demo-eratic caucus nomines for a seat in the United States Senate. In 1882 he was appointed by a Republican Governor to a judgeship on the Circuit Bench, and at the expiration of his appointment was twice re-elected to the same place without oppo-sition. He has never sought office, and his popularity is best attested by the fact that, although he is a Democrat, his candidacy for the place to which he is nominated was indorsed by the unanimous vote of the Republican Legislature of Minnesota. The Senate has confirmed the following

OF INTEREST TO HOOSIERS,

Statistician Conner's Official Head in Morton's Basket-One of Gresham's Friends. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

WASHINGTON, April 6 .- Secretary Morton to-day formally announced the appointment of Martin E. Argo, of Indiana, to be State statistical agent off the Agricultural Department in Indiana, vice John B. Conner, of Indianapolis, removed.

The Benton county Democratic central committee appreciates the condition of the fellow that got left. One of the leading members of the party, in one of the towns, got dorsement of this organization for postmaster, and had improvised a frame of pigeon holes to practice pitching postal cards so as to be an expert when his commission showed up. It seems Mr. Gresham owns a farm in that county, and a rival candidate quietly secured the indorsement of the granger agent of the Secretary of State, with the effect of having Mr. Gresham act on this lone signature and wield the snickersnee on both the Republican postmaster and the old-time Democrat with his central committee recommendations.

Jerome Herff, of Peru, who has been seeking the consul-generalship to Havana, was told by President Cleveland to-day that the incumbent of that office would be "But," said the President, "you must pick out two or three other consulates, giving me some margin to work on, and I will give you one of them." Mr. Herft is feeling pretty good to-night. He said he has willingness to the President to accept either of them.

J. A. Hineman, of Hartford City. J. M. Lontz, county auditor, and Charles E. Marlotte, sheriff, prominent Democrats of Wayne county, called upon President Cleveland to-day and were introduced by Representative Holman.

George Cobb, of Vincennes, son of the late Representative Cobb, has withdrawn his application for a chiefship of division in the Treasury Department and has ap-plied for a place in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. He will succeed in this move, it is stated. Young Cobb is quite popular here and is indersed upon his

W. T. Steele, of Indianapolis, has had his application entered at the Treasury Department for the position of surveyor of customs at Indianapolis. James R. F. Ritts, of LaPorte, is now acting chief of the special examination division of the Pension Office, and in charge of the Eastern district. He was a supervising examiner under Commissioner Black. He succeeds Fred Peck, who remains a supervising examiner.

This evening's Washington News says of two well-known Indiana federal officers here: "When Third Auditor Hart, who is known as the best looking official in the Treasury Department, resigns his position, as he will very shortly, he will go home to Indiana and take up the thread of his banking business, which he abandoned when he assumed office. In the early years of Mr. Hart's life he was a printer's nevil, and he afterwards became the editor of a little daily newspaper in an Indiana town. Deputy Third Auditor Shaw, who will soon leave the Treasury, made a single stroke about five years ago that placed him in his official pedestal. He was an employe in a rallroad at In-dianpolis at the time when Mr. Harrison addressed some remarks to a small delegation of railroad men, in which Mr. Harrison was acused of baving said that a dollar and a half a day workingman.' Mr. Shaw, when the clamor in the railroad world over this alleged remark was at its height, went and made affidavit that it had never been spoken, and one of Mr. Harrison's first official acts when he became President was to appoint Mr. Shaw Deputy Third Auditor.'

Paul Liebhardt, formerly of Milton. Wayne county, superintendent of the Dead Letter Office, will likely engage in business in Washington as soon as his successor is appointed. Gresham and Lamont have both gotten Indiana young men for private secretaries.

NEW CROP OF OFFICE SEEKERS.

They Wear Their "Pants" in Their Boots, Carry Guns and Drink Red Liquor.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal

Washington, April 6.-There appears to be a new crop of office seekers in town. These are the men who want the postoffices, the clerkships in the departments here, and the smaller places. They do not present the appearance of the crowds who came at the outset of the administration for the missions abroad, the consulates and the higher positions in the departments. Many of these men are from Texas or the plains beyond the corn belt of the Missours valley. They wear broadbrimmed sombreros, yellow and stiff, and wear their "pants" in their boots. They crowd the corridors of the Capitol when the Senate is in session, poke their feet far under the tables in the Senate restaurant, and insist upon drinking cups of red liquor

right along with their raw beef and pota-

There are so many of these brawny sons of election victories here that two or three extra sheets of the nominations sent to the Senate each day are posted in the Senate corridors for their benefit. It has been the custom for years when the President sends a list of nominations to the Senate about 12:30 or 1 o'clock to make a dozen or more manifold copies for the information of press representatives and others. Three or four copies are immediately sent up to the press galleries of the Senate, and a copy posted in the large room occupied by the clerks to the Secretary of the Senate. When the clerk from the White House appeared with his nominations, before the present arrangement. the fellows with the broad bats and bulging hip-pockets made a dash for him, and he could scarcely dodge into the Senate Chamber. When the copy for public posting was sent out, these fellows almost fell over one another. It was a mob. They wanted to see if their names were on the list. Now they are less boisterous, for they know two extra bulletins are posted in di-verse corridors for their benefit. They rush up now, and, glancing for their names and

About the hotel corridors, day and night, the typewriters are driven to their utmost capacity. The applicants want their papers all copied in the nice, bold hand of the typewriting machine so the appointing power can readily read. One can see great piles of letters and petitions before the copyist, who labors with might and main to get the jobs done in time for the appliconts to catch their Senators or Representatives on their way to the departments. Thousands of dollars are being spent here in copying petitions and letters which will mover be read. But everything goes, and seeing them not, they step back, shift their cuds and grunt. It is the same the next

no one cares for an expense of two or three dollars for copying his papers so long as there is hope. When the applicant has lost his race and is packing his grip preparatory to departure for home, and he is counting his losses, he laments the expenditures for typewriting.

AT THE WHITE HOUSE,

The President Reaffirms His Home-Rule Policy-What Marcellus Marshall Wants, WASHINGTON, April 6 .- The President had a comparatively light day to-day. But few new applications for office were presented to him, and the Senators and Representatives who called came mainly for the purpose of looking after the cakes already in the oven. The President reaffirmed his home-rule policy to-day. To a couple of Congressmen who called upon him to discuss territorial appointments he stated that it is his intention to adhere to the plan of selecting appointees to positions in the Territories from among residents, State and local. He will not depart from this rule save in cases where the local candidate is manifestly untit for office, and it becomes necessary to seek elsewhere for the proper men for the places.

A new candidate for Indian Commissioner has appeared in the person of Prof. Marcellus Marshall, of Gilmer county. West Virginia. He was introduced to the President to-day by Congressman Pendleton, who, at the same time, presented Col. Alex. Campbell, of Bethany, who would like to be consul-general at Melbourne. Senator Palmer and General Black called with Thomas Courtney, applicant for the marshalship of the Northern district of General Wheeler, of Alabama, was one of the President's earliest callers to-day. He had a bundle of papers under his arm. "All of these papers refer to the application of one of my constituents," said General Wheeler, "He is a splendid tellow, and I feel certain that the President will not overlook his claims."

"How many appointments have you secured so far?" was asked. "When I get the one I am after to-day and another I will have two," was the General's philosophical answer.

Hughes East Indorsed.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, April 6.-In answer to a protest from Yankton, S. D., made by two or three aspiring Democrats against the appointment of Mr. Aughes East to a position in the Agricultural Department, Judge Bartlett Tripp, minister to Austria; Senator Kyle, Commodore Coulson, president of the Missouri river steamboat lines: General Maris Taylor, Judge Thomas, of Black Hills; Colonel Miller, just appointed district attorney, and the entire South Dakota delegation here will to-morrow call on Secretary Morton and emphasize their appreciation of Mr. East by stating that his appointment gives universal satis-faction in South Dakota and meets their most cordial approval.

American Consuls and Their Qualifications. Wm. Slade, Ex-Consul at Brussels, in April Forum . When we remember that, as a nation, we are largely judged abroad by the character and deportment of our ministers and consuls, we find reason to emphasize the lapguage of Washington, who, after his retirement to Mount Vernon, in writing to a man connected with the government, said: "For officials appoint gentlemen." As to the importance and necessity of a consul's knowledge of the language of the country to which he is sent, or of the French language, which, as it is said of French gold, goes everywhere," no manner of doubt can exist. Whatever other qualifications he may possess, the lack of this will prove fatal to his highest efficiency and usefulness. The knowledge is indispensable in the routine work of the office, in investigating revenue frauds, in collecting data for consular reports, in intercourse with offictals and civil authorities, in almost every service to Americans.

Captain Brown took Dr. Daniel and one policeman with him. Brown has just returned and brought back Two Sticks and would have brought White-face Horse, but Dr. Daniel examined him and found that he was very badly wounded through the left knee joint. Mortification had set in and it seemed to be only a question of a short time when he would die.

Rhode Island Election Returns. PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 6 .- The revised local vote for Governor is as follows: Baker, Democrat. 22,015; Brown, Republican, 21.830; Metcalf, Probibitionist, 3,265; scattering, 103. A plurality of 185 for Baker. The official count makes the composition of the General Assembly as follows: Republicans, 40; Democrate, 38; doubtful, 3. The Democrats feel confident of electing enough assemblymen to give them the joint committee, and enable them to elect their general officers. For Congressman, Page and Lapham are re-elected by about 500 plurality each.

Indignation Meeting at Richmond Over th Removal of Rev. Neal, Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

RICHMOND, Ind., April 6 .- There is quite a sensation here in church circles over the action of the North Indiana Conference in removing Rev. E. E. Neal, paster of the First M. E. Church. Mr. Neal has been with this congregation, which is one of the largest in the conference, for two years, and the last quarterly conference passed a resolution asking for his return. He was not at all popular with some of the leading members of the church, and these wrote letters to Bishop Joyce asking for a change, and it is openly charged that some of these letters were written by members of the quarterly conference who voted for his return. Acting on the information in these letters the bishop transferred Mr. Neal to Peru. This was a great suprise to most of the congregation.
and Wednesday morning an indignation meeting was held, and the circulation of petitions asking the bishop to rescind his action was at once begun. Yesterday these petitions were signed by about 450 adult members of the congregation, and to-day Hon, J. M. Wescott started for Buffalo to present the petitions in person to Bishop Genuine Boom at Arcadia.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. ARCADIA, Ind., April 6.-Early yesterday morning the boom of caunon and the blowing of whistles proclaimed the first move toward the enlarging of Arcadia from a village to a thriving manufacturing city. Over a square mile of land was laid out in lots and quickly sold. There is an Eastern syndicate controlling the Land and improvement Company, and they have secured a carwheel factory that will employ fear or five hundred mon. They have also located a large furniture factory and two other large factories that will each employ more than one hundred men. There will be over two hundred bonses built by one contractor. and during the summer the town will probably quadruple its present population. The gas wells of Arcadia register more pounds pressure than any other wells in the State. Arrangements are being made for a railroad to pass through the growing town.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. LEBANON, Ind., April 6 .- Homer Patterson, alias C. E. Wright, a married man, was arrested in Lexington, Ky., a few days ago. on a telegram from the city marshal here, on a charge of chicken stealing. He removed from Danville, Ind., to this city, about one year ago, and had been indicted for converting an estray since coming here, but by the assistance of friends was only given a light fine for the offense. He usually went dressed in broadcloth and silk hat, drove fine horses, and was a member of the M. E. Church, of this city. He was caught with $40 worth of stolen chickens in his possession, about two weeks ago, but escaped to Kentucky, and was located through a letter he sent here to a friend, asking what the people had to say about him. Patterson was brought back here and lodged in jail to-day.

Colonel Shepard's Kindness, Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

So many unkind things have been said of Col. Eliot F. Shepard that, now that he is dead, it is pleasant to recall an instance of his thoughtfulness for his employes. The one in this case was a Pittsburg woman, going a stranger to the great city of Gotham as a writer for Colonel Shepard's paper. When the young woman, tired, and a little frightened, stepped out of the train at the Grand Central Station in New York, two young ladies stepped up to her and inquired if she were not Miss . She replied that she was, and the young ladies introduced themselves as Colonel Shepard's daughters. Their father had asked them to meet the young stranger, and help her to find comfortable and convenient lodging. Fortunately her arrangements had aiready been made on a previous visit to the city, but the Misses Shepard accompanied her to her new home, and lent her the benefit of their experience in regard to other arrangements. Such thoughtfulness on the part of "ye busy editor" is not often met with even in less distingnished circles than the McAllister's four hundred, and in less self-centered towns than New York.

Mrs. Miller Taken to Task.

Kansas City Star. Mrs. Jenness Miller, who is the inventor of a mysterious patent nether garment for women that is like the peace of God in that it passeth all understanding, has taken a pasty, mean advantage of reform to thrust one of her Milleresque ideas upon suffering male humanity. Mrs. Miller has headed a crusade upon bald-headed men. She demands that bald heads be covered with wigs in public, as they "are horrid, un-sightly and inartistic." This innovation on the part of Mrs. Miller is but another link in the chain of thraldom that the women are putting about men. Women began by taking man's cigar away from him and throwing it off the street car; then they compelled him to spit in his hat; now, after having pulled all the hair out of poor man's head, they are making bald-headed-ness a crime. Is this just? Let the men organize before it is eternally too late. Agitate, organize, fight!

An Expensive Honor.

An embassador without embassador's salary is deprived of half his usefulness. Even royalty itself may be the guest of an embassador without derogation of its dignity. Mr. Lincoln is said to have spent $50,000 of his own money during his term of service, and he has, as a minister, been exempt from expenses that an embassador cannot avoid without loss not only of his own but his country's dignity and prestige. Our policy of paying low salaries in high places is the most undemocratic possible, as it practically excludes from great offices all but the very rich.

Liberal Feeding.

Hoard's Dairyman. There seems to be a strange lunsey in the minds of a great many farmers in regard to feeding cows liberally. As a square proposition no dairyman can afford to let a herd of good cowe get in a low condition. He not only robs himself of a chance for present gain, but he seriously cripples his around we can see everywhere evidence enough to satisfy a reasonable man as to the best policy to pursue. In all places it is the liberal feeder who makes the most money. His skeptical neighbor will say: "I can't see how he does it; he pays so much for feed." Nevertheless, he does it. There has not been a day the past year that feed has been so high but what a dairyman with a cow that would yield three-fourths to a pound of butter a day. could richly afford to give her all she could economically consume. The trouble with one in a thousand has any figures to show for their belief. They have nothing but mere guesswork to stand on.

Where's the Walking Delegate?

Brooklyn Standard Union. See here! Has not organized labor got anything to say about the overworking of cherks in the Postal Department at Washington? The Postmaster-general has turned over one thousand clerks from the usual hour of quitting work, 4, to 5, six days in the week-six thousand hours' extra work a week. This is a requisition of extra work, and it means to make ready for Maxwell, the man who takes Adlai's place at the ax, to turn out Republican postmasters and put in Democrate for being Democrats, just as was done during Mr. Cleveland's first team as a civil-service reformer.

More Nepotism.

Philadelphia Press. This was to be an administration under which there was to be no nepotism. But several conspicuous cases have already occurred in the departments under the President's eye, and now the new minister to France has secured the appointment of his son as second secretary of legation. That is a misuse of place which has not been common. Ministers have not infrequently had members of their families as their private secretaries, but it is rare that they have been put on the official list to be paid out of the public treasury.

A Fish story.

Dennis's Fish Paper. During the recent cold weather three bass that were in confinement at the water works pumphouse in this city became inclosed in ice several feet in thickness, and remained in that condition for weeks. The warm days in early March gradually melted the ice away until the fish were released, and the engineer was very much surprised when he saw the fish which he had mourned as dead, darting around as though invigorated by their long sleep. The hi weigh about two pounds each.

that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is made for. It gives her health and strength. All woman's ailments are cured by it. It's a leritimate medicine-not a beverage; an inrigorating, restorative tonic and a soothing and strengthening nervine, free from alcohol and injurious drugs. It imparts tone and vigor to the whole system. For all functional irregularities, periodical pains, organic displacements and uterine diseases, it's a positive remedy.

And a guaranteed one. If it doesn't give satisfaction, in every case, the money paid for it is refunded. No other medicine for women is sold on these terms. That's because nothing else is "just as Perhaps the dealer will offer something that's "better." He means that it's better for him.
